As I was going home the other night I asked a group of steel-helmeted men who stood around a doorway what was going on, and a deep voice from the background said: "It's from the back we don't weaken," a grand life if there is the British watchword for the winter of 1940. We'll think of something else for the winter of 1941.
Mr. Winston Churchill in the House of Commons, Nov. 5, 1940
