

Every Boy's a Hero in This War Today.

5

WORDS BY MYLES McCARTHY

ED. J. SMALL
PUBLISHER
423 GROSSE BLDG.
LOS ANGELES CAL.

MUSIC BY
CHAUNCEY HAINES

Every Boy's a Hero In This War Today.

Lyric by MYLES McCARTHY.

Music by CHAUNCEY HAINES.

Marcia.

f

1. While the might-y hosts a - bove are cheer-ing, _____ And his-t'ry's in the making now on earth _____
2. Now there's mil-lions more that we are send-ing, _____ Each one is leav-ing here to do or die. _____

p

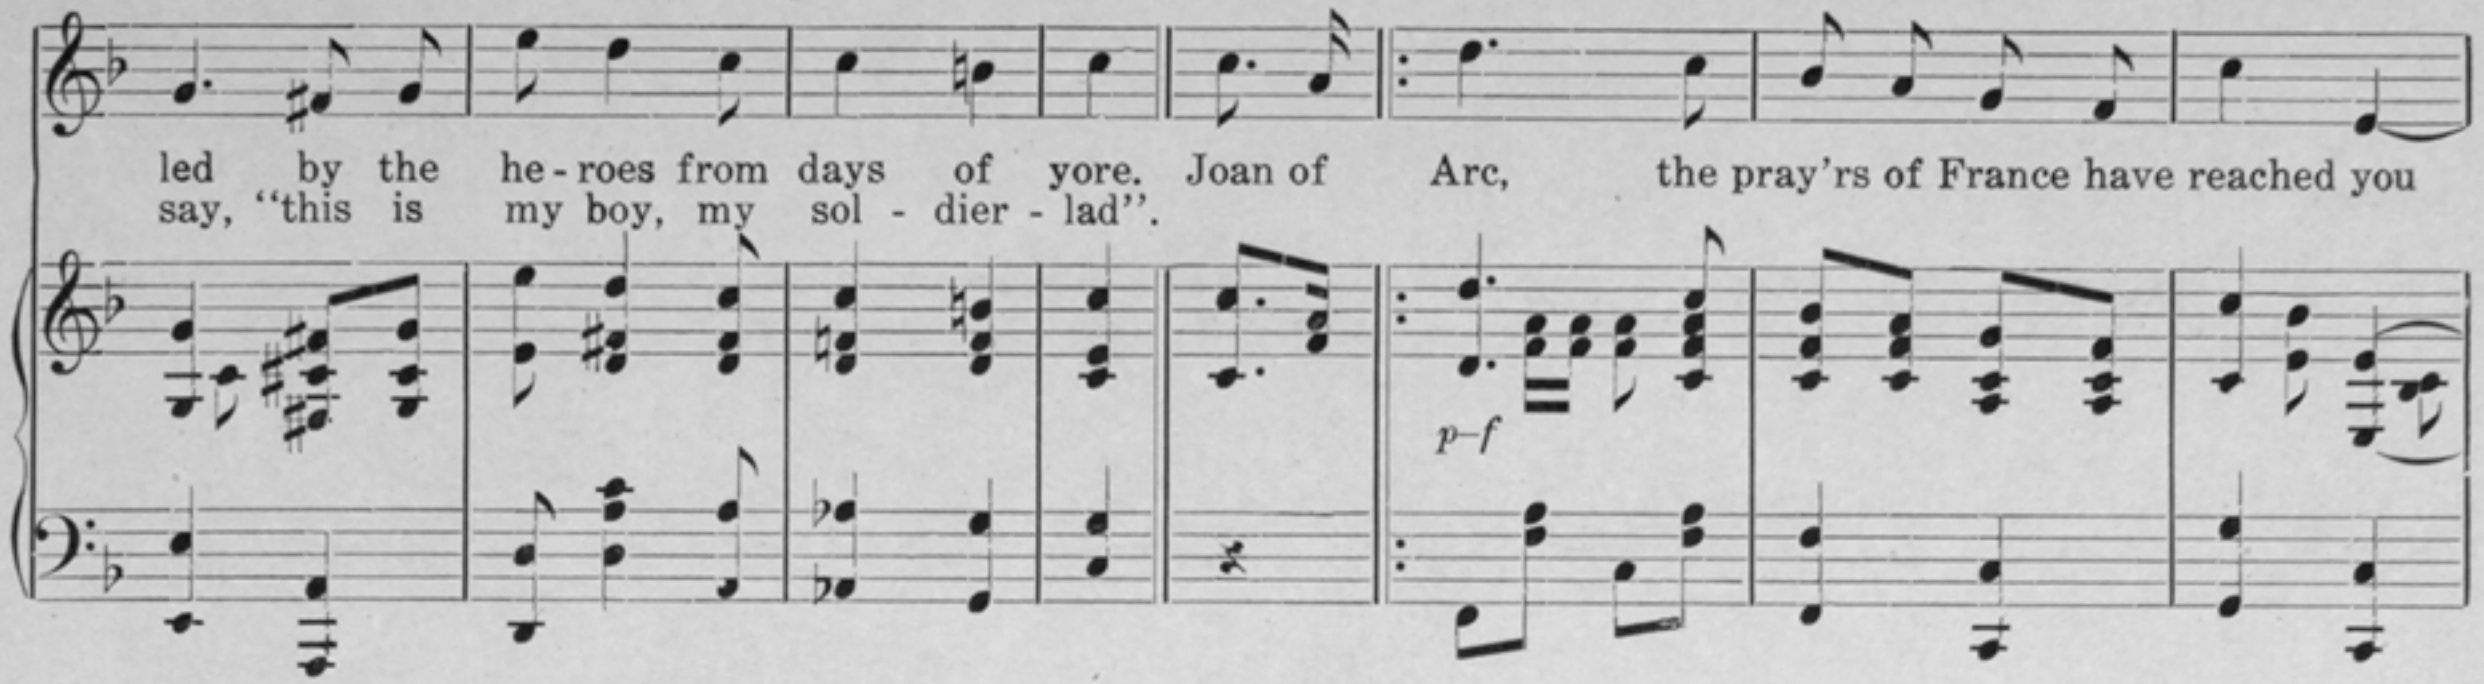

— A - mer - i - ca has built a bridge of ships a-cross the sea, To pro - tect the land that gave you
— The spir - its of those he-roes old they know are look-ing on, Proud - ly watch-ing from some for - eign birth, _____ You can hear the tread of the Yan - kees march-ing, Min-gled with the Tom-mies sky, _____ And they know when vic-to - ry has crowned them, — That ev - 'ry sweet-heart or a from old England's shore; _____ You can hear I - tal - ians shout-ing, as they face the shot and shell, They are moth-er will be glad, _____ Just to place both arms a-round them in the old fa - mil - iar way; They will led by the he-ros from days of yore. Joan of Arc, the pray'rs of France have reached you say, "this is my boy, my sol-dier-lad".

CHORUS

p-f

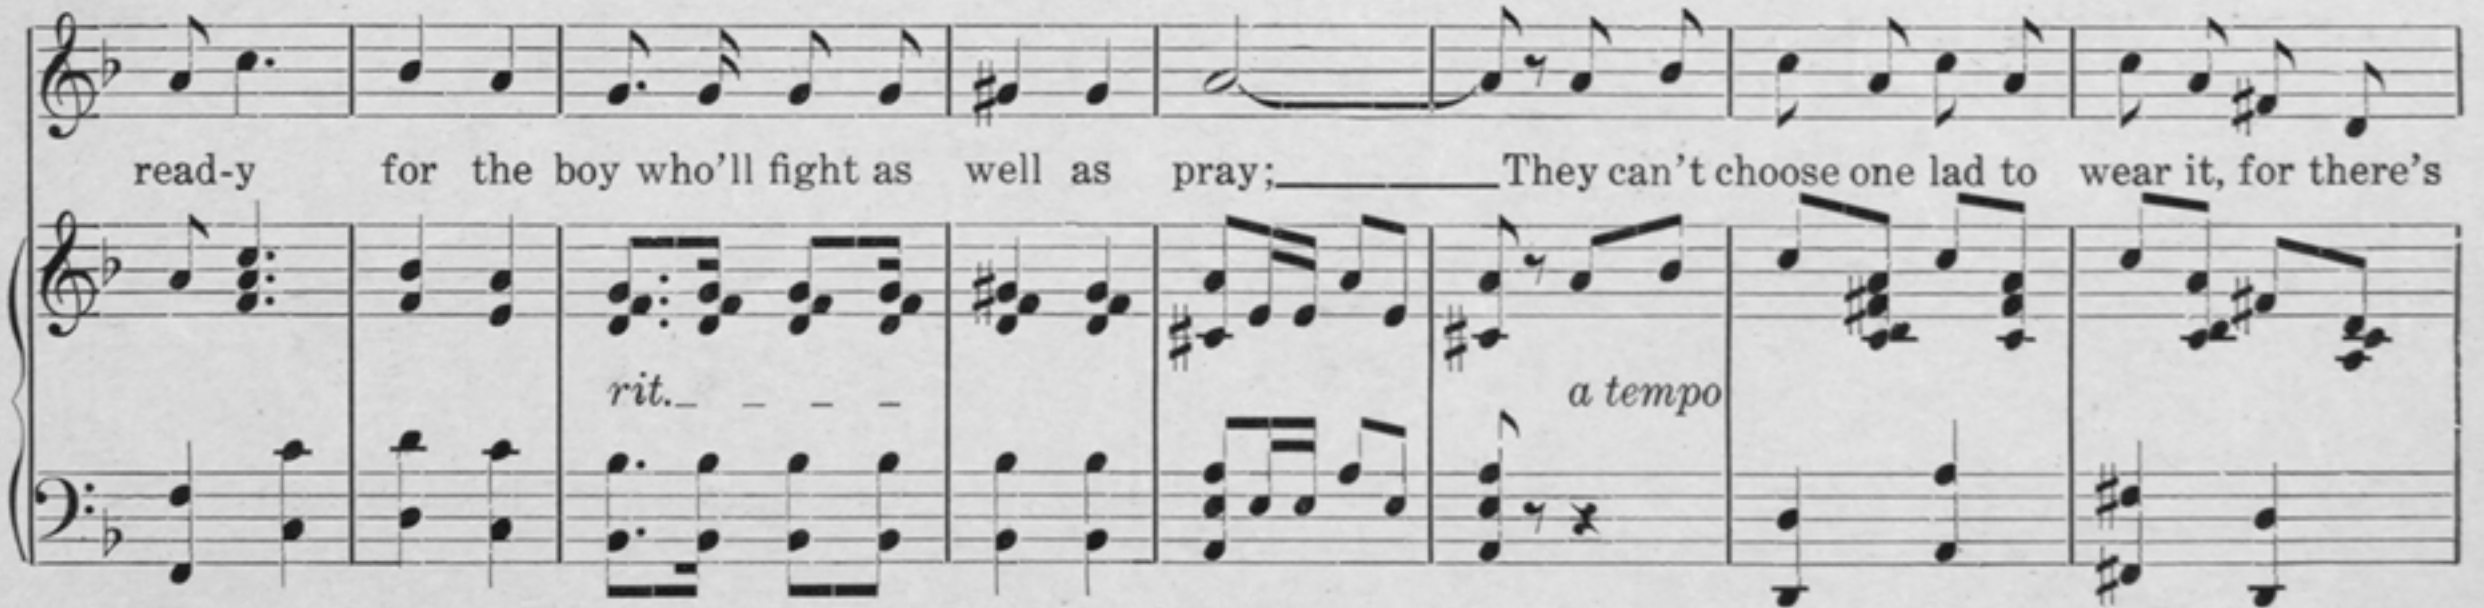

Un-der La-fay-ette the boys march on, Well-ing-ton is guid-ing ev-'ry

Brit-ton, Gar-i-bal-di stands be-side George Washing-ton, Each has his cloak of courage read-y for the boy who'll fight as well as pray; They can't choose one lad to wear it, for there's

rit. a tempo

thou-sands more to share it; Ev-'ry boy's a he-ro in this war to-day. Joan of day.

1 2