As he jumped in - to the boat      Some - one hand - ed her a note
 She had longed to meet a Sheik      Who was not a - fraid to speak;

And it read, "Here's some - thing you should know.
 It had been her dream for man - y years.

He is just a lit - tle sail - or Sheik,
 Ros - ie rowed but not to - ward the shore,

Takes a dif - frent girl - ie out each week.
 She for - got those words for - ev - er more.

CHORUS

If he gets too sent - i - men - tal Row! Row! Ros - ie,
 If he gets too sent - i - men - tal Row! Row! Ros - ie,

mf - f

Ros - ie, Row for the shore.
 Ros - ie, Row for the shore.

E - ven tho' he's sweet and gen - tle Row! Row! Ros - ie,
 E - ven tho' he's sweet and gen - tle Row! Row! Ros - ie,

Don't let him rock the boat, It's might - y hard to float.
 No use to shout or squawk, You can't get out and walk.

Out on the o - cean a kiss in the dark —
 You may be youth - ful and chock full of hope —

Some - times is worse — than the bite of a shark, — So
 But you won't float — you're not I - vor - y Soap! — So let your con - science be your guide And Row! Row! Ros - ie! Ros - ie, let your con - science be your guide And Row! Row! Ros - ie! Ros - ie,

row for the shore. —
 row for the shore. —
