Verse

1. There once was a farm-er who took a young
 (2. The) girl told the farm-er that he'd bet-ter
 (3. The) farm-er de-cid-ed he'd wed an-y miss in back of the barn where he gave her a lec-ture on stop and she called her fath-er, and he called a tax-i and way, and start-ed in plan-ning for his wed-ding suit which he hors-es and chick-ens and eggs, and told her that she had such got there be-fore ver-y long, 'cause some-one was do-ing his pur-chased for on-ly one buck, but then he found out he was beau-ti-ful man-ners that suit-ed a girl of her charms, a lit-tle girl right for a change and so that's why he said: If just out of mon-ey and so he got left in the lurch, — girl that he want-ed to take in his wash-ing and iron-ing and you mar-ry her, son, you're bet-ter off sing-le 'cause it's al-ways stand-ing and wait-ing in front of the end of this sto-ry which then if she did, They could get mar-ried and raise lots of been my be-lief, Mar-riage will bring a man noth-ing but just goes to show, All a girl wants from a man is his
