fath-er heard me sing a song which made him aw-ful mad, The you were still a ba-by and you start-ed to boo-hoo, Who does your moth-er love the best, a-way down in her heart, Who on-ly one day in the year, the old man's in the swim, Up-song de - clared that ev' - ry - bod - y worked ex - cept - ing Dad, He left his bed at one o' - clock to walk the floor with you, And does your moth - er scold the worst, will no one take his part, You on e - lec - tion day, the pol - i - ti - cians bow to him, Who said you roast the poor old man, you have - n't much to do, Who when you woke your moth - er and the neigh - bors too as well, Who all are will - ing work - ers and you nev - er try to shirk, But votes up - on e - lec - tion day with all his fel - low men, And is it that sup - ports you all, won't you please tell me who?

 did they al - ways blame it on, when you be - gan to yell?
 when your sist - ers want new hats, who is the one they work? when he's vot - ed once or twice who is it votes a - gain?

CHORUS.

The poor old man, The poor old man, Don't you ev-er
