— And he tells me I must — go a - way For a lit - - tle while;
— So my life has been one — big A - ra - bi - an night, — you see;
He just gave me a frown, — Said "You have to leave town, —
No more tan-goes for me, — No more four o'-clock tea, —
— For your nerves are run down" — No fear, I'm — Me for o - ver the sea — Where I can not goin' to die! — I just dropped in to say good - bye! — eat with my knife — Oh! it's me for the sim - ple life! —

CHORUS

So good - bye to the lights — and the glo - ri - ous nights,—

— It's the price I am pay - - ing for my ca - ba - ret -
- ing; And the old doc - tor tells me my liv - er is queer,—
— I must rest — for a year. — I have nerv- ous pros - tra - - tion from that Hes - i - ta - - tion But I don't re - gret — it, the bank roll I'll bet — That if I'm in good con - di - tion a year from to - day, — Why, I'll do it all o -
